

Lindex' discrimination policy

Discrimination is any kind of special treatment that direct or indirect disfavours or limits individuals'/groups' acting space and options. It is also when the personal integrity is being violated.

According to the UN declaration for human rights, discrimination is a crime against human's equal value and rights for equal treatment and is also forbidden according to Swedish legislation.

Lindex will not accept any form of discrimination due to the employees' sex, sex-transcendent identity, ethnicity, functional limitations, religion, other believes, sexual orientation or age. Lindex work actively to prevent discrimination and will take immediate action if this occurs. All employees have a common responsibility to treat each other with mutual respect and care.

Lindex promotes equal rights and possibilities when it comes to conditions of work and employment. Within the Lindex' culture, diversity creates an inspiring and creative working environment which leads to increased profitability and a more competitive position.

For questions concerning the policy or its contents, please:

Sanna Lindgren, Director of HR & Communications
Switchboard phone: +46 31 739 50 00